Using this code regularly will immediately abolish the inequalities and discord that prevail on Earth at this time. It ensures equal value and opportunities for every single person without regard to their provenance, gender, skin colour, occupation, or financial situation. It abolishes the upper classes' inability to give and deletes, abolishes poverty, and with it the necessity for charity. Charity is nothing more than the 'entertainment' and self-exhibition of the wealthy segment of society, through which they gain further wealth and can feel better about themselves from the high frequency of gratitude that they receive from those poorer than themselves. These charity events are artificially arranged and assembled and often transmitted by the media. In reality, they are none other than tools for accumulating profits (in this or that manner), and for widening the already large gap between the upper and lower classes. We don't need charity that serves ambiguous goals. We need to eliminate poverty and scarcity from the face of the Earth. This code grants everyone the amount of material goods that they need and will make them happy. No matter what position we have in life, this code's effect will cause all of us to value ourselves and others equally; everyone's work will be just as important as everyone else's work because everyone will work to make their own lives and the lives of others happy and contented. This code helps us understand this.
