Portfolio of Thoughts

“For the world is not meant to benefit someone.
The world is meant to be beautiful, peaceful, and good.
It is meant to be able to live in it, with work, but without profit.
For the meaning of life is beauty.
And profit is the most useless word ever invented by man.
It is the most harmful, the most ruinous word.”
(Albert Wass)

What is wrong with the governments of the world?

What is wrong with the politicians and religious leaders, and people in power positions in general in our world? What is wrong?

1. Jesus said that “You will know people by their fruits” in the Parable of the Tree and its Fruits in the Bible in Matthew 7:15–20 and Luke 6:43–45. He says that good trees produce good fruits, while bad trees produce bad fruits. In other words, people’s actions and the consequences of their actions reveal who they really are.

So now, if we look at the ‘fruits’ of the governments worldwide what can be the conclusion?...

2. Rudolf Steiner, the famous spiritual scientist (1861-1925) taught that throughout human history, we have always experienced the Luciferian influence through temptations and seductions that attack our senses. He also said that in our modern time Lucifer will work together with Ahriman, which will be worse. They together try to grab our consciousness and souls; Lucifer through our senses and Ahriman through our minds... So it will be very difficult for mankind after 2000. Ahriman will have the intention and strong will to make mankind robotic, executing the orders of the dark forces without thinking. The dark and evil powers want to tear away people from their souls and spirits, and they want to force mankind onto a distorted negative path, into total annihilation, away from our spirits and our divine origin, from the Divine Father, from the Source, from Life.

So...what about Elon Musk's microchips which can be hacked and controlled by others from outside?...And all the big fuss about AI and robots?

3. Several groups of recognized and respected scientists say that there are negative extraterrestrial forces influencing mankind from the planet Mars through the backside of the Moon with the help of high technology, sending manipulative dark programs to people's subconscious mind, crystalline net and devices. They try to prevent Earth and mankind from rising to higher frequencies and with that to higher consciousness and knowledge, which means high living standard, health and happiness, returning to our Source. These scientists also say that most presidents, leaders of countries, of communities, lawmakers, bankers, and the very rich persons are not really humans although they are in human forms but they have scattered consciousness and are servants of the dark forces. They are all psychopaths and sociopaths without compassion, love and conscience. Their role is to hand over all natural treasures, all gold and even humanity for energy production device to those aliens.

So... what about all the hassle to go to the backside of the Moon and to Mars? Instead of cherishing our planet Earth or to go to Venus? Where all the gold of the Earth goes? And why?

FAR-FETCHED? IMPOSSIBLE?
BUT ACTUALLY... NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE
IF YOU TAKE A LOOK AT HOW OUR WORLD LOOKS LIKE!!!

So that is why we have decided to send the following letter to the NZ government to get some answers and also to have an idea where they stand.

- 1. Are they for people or against?
- 2. Are they followers of Ahriman stirring up conflicts, creating poverty, artificial price increases and financial crises, poisoned environments and wars?
- 3. Or are they followers of Jesus Christ and God, of our Source and origin expressing love through their every decision and act, creating for the nation healthy environments, equality, abundance and happiness?

It is easy to see, realize and understand which side the government belongs to, isn't it?

If the government is for the nation, for us, then we should feel it in our everyday life. We should feel that in our well-being, that we are equal, healthy, our environment is clean and healthy, and our person and life are respected and highly cherished. Isn't that so?

If we don't feel all that then the government is against its people and it positioning itself as the negative alternative mentioned above....

A LETTER TO THE NZ PARLIAMENT

DEAR Mr. DAVID SEYMOUR AND Mr. WINSTON PETERS

We would like you to ask the NZ government, in the name of the majority of New Zealanders the following questions and also to request an acceptable and reasonable answer to them:

1. Why are fluorine and chlorine added to our drinking water when these are very toxic substances? And that in spite of the fact that none of the diluted versions of these toxic substances have been studied thoroughly or rather not at all? Nor their short- and long-term effects on the human body and health!!! These toxic substances make the water smelly, taste bad, and undrinkable! Why does the government want to poison one of the most important components of our body?

The human body is made up of about 80% of water!!!

2. How come toxic heavy metals happen to be around food production and get into our food and drink?!!! How is it possible?
3. Why is this sudden fuss about the Maori issue?

4. What is the government's purpose of renaming New Zealand? What kind of agenda does the government have with it?

Remember! New Zealand is *THE LAND AND THE COUNTRY OF ALL NEW ZEALANDERS, OF ALL KIWIS! (approx. 70 % of European origin, 14 % Chinese, the rest of Pacific and Maori...) So why on earth does the government want to portray New Zealand as a Maori land with a strange name both for the majority of Kiwis and internationally?

5. Why is Haka promoted so aggressively?

Does haka expresses good intention, love and peace? Is it an expression of God's Love and Light? Does it promote peace and good will? Does it? It doesn't?... Well then?...

"The haka was traditionally a "war challenge" or "war cry" performed by men before going to war. The aggressive facial expressions were meant to scare opponents, while the cry was to lift 'war morale', to suspend morale..." (official description of haka)

New Zealand should be proud of the famous law, the NUNUKU'S LAW (which forbade murder and cannibalism some twenty-four generations beforehand!!!). of the MORIORI, the FIRST INHABITANTS of the NZ islands and absolutely NOT of haka!

So then, why does the government promote so aggressively, both nationally and internationally, a rather rude, hostile war-dance with uncivilized bodily expressions and movements? Why does the government (and its licking servants together with mass media) want to poison the Kiwi souls with violence and ignorant, non-civilized attitudes? You just may wonder...

6. Why are the 85% of the Kiwis treated in a racist manner by the government (socially, in healthcare, education, etc.)?

Exactly those people, on whom the country's economy is actually based!...
Why is this so despite all the historical facts?

7. How come that the Maori tribe is so rich and gets so much wealth and power? From Where, from Whom and Why do they get all that wealth?

Do they work harder than other Kiwis, e.g. of European and Asian origin? People originating from those parts of the world are usually very hard working. Still it's not them who get all that wealth, social benefits and privileges. Even though they don't have that much domestic violence, gang building, their crime rate isn't as high. However, it's them who contribute greatly to and produce the largest part of the country's economy.

So how come that it's not them who also own all that wealth and power? Who also gets all those benefits and privileges? How come that another, more problematic ethnic group is favoured so much more than any other well-functioning and working ethnic groups? On what basis?

WHY IS THIS SO?!!

QUESTION 3.

Why on earth do Maori names and words suddenly show up everywhere nowadays? Signs are often in Maori first, in English as second, if at all...

There were a couple of tourists asking us the other day what was written on a big building in Christchurch. For it was in an incomprehensible language. To our rescue an older Kiwi came by and said he didn't know for sure but it was a library before... What the heck?... After search on the internet, it turned out to be a Maori word. Why does the government change everything into an almost dead, used by only a few people, into a MINORITY LANGUAGE? Not even the Maori speak it; at least the majority don't...

- By the way, does the government know any international research studies in Maori? No?...
- Any international invention then? Not that either?...
- Is Maori an international language like English, Spanish, French, German, Chinese, Japanese or Russian of which our Kiwi children would benefit even internationally?
- No?... It isn't?...

The illogical approach of the government to the Maori issue isolates Kiwis even more from the rest of the world...

You don't go far by learning only or mainly Maori as a foreign language. The government isolates Kiwis not just by the standards of education but also by an outdated tribal language which is relevant nowadays mostly only in historical perspectives. It belongs to a minority group, mainly to the past, to the museums and history books.

THE PRESENT OF NEW ZEALAND IS MULTINATIONAL AND MULTICULTURAL!!!.

The majority of population are of European origin, Chinese, Indians, etc. on whom the country's economy is actually based.

- So who speaks Maori in reality and why it is so aggressively promoted?
- Is Maori spoken all over the world so it could make Kiwis competitive internationally? Well? It isn't?..

Approximately 13-15 % of New Zealanders are Maori, of them only a few % who actually speak the language. Therefore the importance of the Maori language, especially in an international perspective, but also in a national perspective is not significant.

Remember! More than 85% of the population in New Zealand don't speak Maori!!!

So Maori is a minority language, not more, not less.

It might make the past, the history of the country more colourful.

Of course, the Maori should be able to speak their language in their communities as they wish and also practice their culture. Like any other nationalities. That is all.

So the question to the government arises: Why is this sudden fuss about the Maori issue?

Why to spend so much of the taxpayers' money for the nonsense of changing names and signs into an incomprehensible language for tourists and also for the majority of Kiwis?

*Instead of for example helping those in need?
And for raising the low standard of living in New Zealand so that the productive part of the population does not leave its country in masses?

Has the government asked the taxpayers about this huge spending for sign-changing, for example? No? Not now either?

In Sweden e.g. there are the Sami people. They have road signs and other signs in double languages in communities where the majority of population are Samish. But the official language is Swedish and you don't see or hear anything in Sami language in other parts of Sweden, if it is not in Samish context. The Sami people have, of course, the right to practice their culture and language in their communities. Everyone can study Samish language and culture from any country if they are interested in it. But only then!

The Samish language and culture is not being forced down anyone's throat!!!

The situation is quite different in New Zealand. So...What can be the agenda of the NZ government with all that?

Could the agenda just simply be?:

- To show clearly on what side the government stands spiritually – creating conflicts, treating the majority of NZ population with racism; there is bigger and bigger poverty in the country; the government creates more and more stress, also bad health with pollution, poisons, forcing not adequately tested and researched vaccines on the population, etc...

Do they spread Christi Love and Light with those doings?... Do they create wellbeing, health and happiness for the nation? You tell me that...

- To piss off and make life even more difficult for more than 85% of the New Zealand population on whom the country's economy is actually based!!!
- To turn suddenly the 85% of the nation to illiterates as they aren't able to read signs and understand things when it is not in English. To make people understand even less than they do at present. Although the education system has already done a good job to achieve 'marvellous' results in this perspective which has been proved by both NZ and international studies...
- To cause problems to everyone, not to mention all the tourists who have real problems and difficulties with an incomprehensible tribal language.
- Does the government suddenly need a quicker result making people more ignorant for some reasons?
- Does the government need to create more frustration and to confuse people for some reasons?
- Do the politicians want to divert attention from more important things?
- Or?

QUESTION 4.

DEAR SIR, Mr. DAVID SEYMOUR,

What you were talking about in the parliament regarding the Maori, is exactly what we learnt back in Europe. How come that all that is new to anyone in KiwiLand? Hmm... Why is this so, you may wonder.

We learned about all the mentioned facts at school (not in New Zealand though) and also about the shameful genocide committed by the Maori killing almost every Moriori, the real first inhabitants of NZ in an unbelievably cruel way.

We learned that the Moriori were the first inhabitants of NZ islands and were a very peaceful tribe with high morals, and that they were called 'the people of God'. They were guided by the 'NUNUKU'S LAW', a covenant laid down by Nunuku, a high-ranking Moriori chief who forbade murder and the eating of human flesh (cannibalism) some twenty-four generations beforehand!!!

And we also learnt about Helen Clark who was the first NZ PM travelling the Chatham Island and trying to compensate somewhat the Moriori for the horrific genocide with a huge amount of NZ dollars in 2005....

Also learnt about the Moa birds and the way of living of the Maori back then, which is really a different story regarding, among other things, the unusual, very scary habits (up to the 70-ties!) to the man of today and to civilized people....

NEW-ZEALAND

The Maori sold the land to the English... That is that.
All according to historical facts.

ANYWAY, WHAT HAPPENED BACK THEN, IT IS HISTORY.

EVERY COUNTRY

Every country and nation had issues in the past all over the world. That event, what happened in the past, has nothing to do with the present-day Kiwis.

And they shouldn't pay for anything that happened for a long time ago!

WHO SHOULD PAY TO WHOM

So who should pay to whom, if anyone and for what?

Don't misunderstand us, and with all respect for the Maori people. We are not of English origin and not partial. But according to historical science the habits of the Maori of that time were to use up the natural resources of an island and then move to the next one. So if the English had not come, the Maori would presumably and certainly have left the NZ islands for a long time ago... They were able to stay here because they learned how to live in one place. So maybe they should pay the English for their knowledge, as a way of expressing their gratitude?...

TODAY IS NOT THE PAST

But today is not the past. No one should pay to anyone for things that happened for a long time ago.

BUT EVERYONE WHO IS ABLE TO WORK, SHOULD WORK AND THAT FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY, FOR THE WELLBEING OF THE WHOLE NATION, FOR ALL KIWIS!

In addition, the bribed media begins to write about the bicultural country!
Come on, all unknowledgeable and bribed journalists and others!

New Zealand is a multicultural country!

The Maori makes only about 13 -15 % of the population.

NZ IS THE LAND AND COUNTRY OF ALL THE KIWIS!

It is not a land and country of the Maori!!! It actually never was according to history.

So many Kiwis, especially the newer ones, (since the 1950s and forward) just don't understand anything of what the government is doing...

Friends in Europe keep asking a little jokingly if New Zealand is heading towards a tribal culture and cannibalism instead of a more developed civilization...

It is not fun to hear those kinds of things, nothing to be proud of. Why is that pressing on everyone with the Maori language and culture?... You might be, and should be allowed to be interested in it if you want to, but absolutely not forced to it!

QUESTION 5.

Another aspect and understanding that the NZ politicians of the present time give signals to the subconscious minds of the Kiwis that they and the whole country are now lead to a tribal, violent society remembering a cannibalistic history (merely 50 years ago).

Also with the help of haka... Haka is not a polka, not a mazurka, a waltz or a beautiful Irish River Dance, ballet, or the like which would nourish the Soul...

“The haka was traditionally a “war challenge” or “war cry” performed by men before going to war. The aggressive facial expressions were meant to scare opponents, while the cry was to lift ‘war morale’, to suspend morale...” (official description of haka)

*Haka is a war dance which is in everyday context only scary and poorly pathetic. In fact, it may seem tasteless with all its eye rolling, spitting, sticking out the tongue, giving out angry, animal like sounds, stamping with feet, etc. It looks scary to children and persons with a weaker nervous system and seems pathetic, also uncivilized for healthy, intelligent people. It has, of course its place in the country’s history and in historical contexts, museums, at Maori festivals, etc., but not in everyday life of Kiwis, not in sport events, especially not at schools and working places!!!

So then, why does the government promote so aggressively, both nationally and internationally, a rather rude, hostile war-dance with uncivilized bodily expressions and movements? Why does the government (and its licking servants together with mass media) want to poison the Kiwi souls with violence and ignorant, non-civilized attitudes? What does the NZ government want, what is its agenda by promoting nowadays such a war dance as a symbol for NZ? You just may wonder...

Experts say that you can see and understand the soul of a nation through its folk dance and folk songs...

So now then...The majority of New Zealanders are peaceful, kind and very friendly. They have respect and good reputation for that worldwide. The nature is magical and amazing, so is all the flora and fauna...so are the calmly grazing sheep and cows everywhere. So...

Haka would be our national dance,
the SYMBOL OF OUR KIWI SOUL?

OH, HELL, NO!!! And NO!!!

Monthly Herbarium

LAMB'S EAR

Lamb's ear (Stachys byzantina) has been used for thousands of years for its medicinal properties. It has antibacterial, anti-inflammatory, and wound healing properties. Lamb's ear is also known as woolly woundwort, woolly hedgenettle, and woolly betony. It's a low-maintenance plant that's drought-tolerant and frost-tolerant. Lamb's ear is safe for humans and pets. It's also non-toxic, so it's a good choice for family gardens.

Medicinal uses

1. Wound healing

Lamb's ear leaves can be used as a natural bandage to treat cuts and bee stings

2. Skin conditions

Lamb's ear leaves may help relieve inflammatory skin conditions such as eczema, acne, and psoriasis

3. Infections

Infusions of dried lamb's ear leaves may help with colds, gum and throat infections, and asthma

4. Eye problems

Leaves simmered and cooled can be used as eyewash

5. Food

Young leaves can be eaten in salads, steamed, or battered

6. Gardening

Lamb's ear can be used as a ground cover, to suppress weeds, and to protect soil from erosion

7. Environmental

Lamb's ear is a pollinator plant that attracts bees

8. Crafts

Lamb's ear leaves can be used for compost, toilet paper, and absorbent pads

Monthly Recipe

LAMB'S EAR LEAF TEA

Lamb's ear leaves tea can be consumed for colds, gum and throat infections, and asthma.

Ingredients

1 teaspoon of dried aerial parts of the plant
2½ dl (1 cup) boiling water

Method

1. Take one teaspoon of dried lamb's ear.
2. Boil water.
3. Pour water on the herb and allow it to steep for 10-15 minutes.

Instruction

1. Drink three times daily to ease menstrual cramps, joint pains, diarrhea relief, and for dysentery.
2. A tincture may also be prepared for the same use, and should be taken in the amount of one to two millilitres, three times daily.
3. For treatment of headache and neuralgia from anxiety and nervousness, a tea may be prepared from 1-2 teaspoons of the dried aerial parts infused in boiling water for 10-15 minutes. The infusion may be drunk three times daily. Alternatively, 2-6 millilitres of a tincture made from the aerial parts may be taken three times daily.

Monthly Joke

COMPLAINING OF PAIN

A young girl goes to her doctor complaining of pain.

"Where are you hurting?", asks the doctor.

"I hurt all over", says the girl.

"What do you mean all over?", asks the doctor. "Be a little bit more specific."

The girl touches her right knee with the index finger and yells, "Ow, that hurts!"

Then she touches her left cheek and again yells, "Ouch! That hurts, too."

Then she touches her right earlobe, "Ow, even that hurts," she cried.

The doctor checks her thoughtfully for a moment and tells her his diagnosis,

"You have a broken finger".
